On the initiative of Ute Knarr-Herriger, the 5 musicians Steve Schroyder, Wolfram Spyra, Rainer Von Vielen, Udo P. Leis and B. Ashra got together for a commissioned composition for the 100th birthday of the Schöneberg Town Hall in Berlin in 2014, in order to perform it live exclusively in front of the town hall.

more information: SB website

The special thing about the live performance of „70db“ was and is that they use 3 real church bells weighing tons on the stage to make music. This was supposed to be the bridge to the peace bells, which began to strike at 10 p.m. in the Schöneberg Town Hall and were integrated into the concert.

The „Secret Sessions“ were created in advance of the preparations for the concert and were remastered for the album. The live performance from 2014 is available in full length in 2 versions on youtube (better sound) or: youtube (better camera)
